

To the Veterans I know.

It's an Honor

When a Military Veteran leaves the 'job' and retires to a others, who may have already retired, wonder if the new "Retiree" knows what he is leaving behind, because we already know.

We know, for example, that after a lifetime of camaraderie that few experience, it will remain as a longing for those past times.

We know in the Military life there is a fellowship which lasts long after the uniforms are hung up in the back of the closet.

We know even if the new "Retiree" throws the uniforms away, they will be on him with every step and breath that remains in his life. We also know that the very bearing of a military retiree speaks of what he was, and what in his heart, he still is.

These are the burdens of a career in the Military - you will still look at people suspiciously, still see what others do not see, or choose to ignore, and you will always look at the rest of the Military world with a respect for what they do; only grown in a lifetime of knowing.

Never think for one moment you are escaping from that past "Military" life. You are only escaping the 'job' and merely being allowed to leave 'active' duty.

When you leave the Military service you will have had the responsibility for more dollars worth of valuable property, equipment and the lives and welfare of more people during your career than 99% of civilians will have during their entire life!

When you "retire" from a Military Career, in your heart you will never forget for one moment that you are still a member of the greatest fraternity the world has ever known!

A veteran - whether active duty, retired, or reserve - is someone who, at one point in their life, wrote a blank check made payable to 'The Government of the United States of America' for an amount of 'up to and including their life'. . .

From one Veteran to another,
it's an honor to be in your Company!!!!
